

A Guide for Students, Parents, and Teachers

For over 30 years, we have championed the ergonomic standard that the piano should fit the hand—not the other way around. The Athena™ line features a 5.5-inch octave, allowing pianists with smaller hands to play with the same power, comfort, and safety as those with larger reaches.

Whether you are just beginning your journey or mastering advanced repertoire, there is an Athena designed for you.

A Note for the Piano Teacher

The NK5.5-201 Essential is our "daily driver"—a performance instrument that allows students to fly through repertoire that used to feel out of reach. It is the perfect entry point for a family looking to ensure their child develops proper technique without the risk of tension or injury.

The NK5.5-301 Flagship is our concert-ready powerhouse. With an elite action and advanced sound layering, it is designed for the studio centerpiece or the professional performer who demands uncompromising results.

The 5.5" Advantage

- Prevent Injury: Eliminate the "clawing" and strain associated with standard 6.5" keyboards.
- Build Confidence: Reach octaves and tenths with ease, unlocking a world of repertoire.
- Proper Alignment: Maintain natural hand and arm positions from the very first lesson.
